

Gathering signatures at BYU's LaVell Edwards Stadium

There are five (?) entrance gates to the stadium (G1-G5). At least three of them (G1, G3, G5) are on a public street (150 E / Canyon Road) and so you should be able to gather signatures on the sidewalk. (Security staff may ask you to stay away from the gates, i.e., to stay near the street itself, but that's fine.) It looks like the NE gate (I can't see what number it is, but maybe it's gate 4?) is near Stadium Avenue, which is maybe also a public street? The SE gate (gate 2?) is on BYU property so you may not be able to gather there, but if not then you can gather nearby on University Pkwy.

If there's enough foot traffic there, another good place to stand is across the street from the stadium, at traffic light TL1, because you can get people while they're waiting for the light: "You missed the light, but you can still sign for clean air!" Offer to walk across the street with them if the light changes while they're signing. The same holds for bus stop B2, which has a pedestrian light of some sort for folks to cross University Pkwy. There's also a bus stop at B1, but it might be hard to corral folks there because they'll want to get into the stadium.

Note that there's a giant parking lot to the west of the stadium. But... how do folks cross the street to get to the stadium? It doesn't look like 150 E / Canyon Road is a major road, but there are two lanes in each direction.
